

Looks like the 2000AD publicity department are starting to take its Youtube channel seriously as a promotional tool: Alongside the trailers for various strips and some goofing around by creators, the magazine just posted a couple of videos with Simon Davis, one of the more under-appreciated artists in its stable for the past few decades. [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/04/2000ad-announces-simon-davis-as-new-slaine-artist/>