

This certainly has been a depressing December for comics fans. Jerry Robinson and Joe Simon, both industry giants, leaving us within days of each other. There have already been many words written about both men by comics historians far more erudite than me, and i imagine there are more to come. It's not getting nearly [...]

Read more: <http://goodcomics.comicbookresources.com/2011/12/16/a-friday-farewell-to-a-classic-illustrator/>