

This weekend marked the 50th anniversary of the Beatles' arrival in America and their appearance on The Ed Sullivan Show. The intersection of the Beatles and comics began a year earlier, though, when Paul McCartney told the music magazine NME that he would like to appear in The Dandy, a popular weekly children's comic (almost [...])

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/02/a-quartet-of-fab-four-comics/>