

You know, maybe it's some kind of comics-related Seasonal Affective Disorder or something. Because the same week that my colleagues Mr. Burgas and Mr. Nevett have owned up to feeling a bit burned out on the modern Marvel and DC, I find myself almost completely abandoning both of them, as far as new comics are [...]

Read more: <http://goodcomics.comicbookresources.com/2012/11/02/forty-five-years-with-the-bat-guy/>