

Here's a quick thought experiment: What would happen to you if you made your own Mickey Mouse comic and sold it online or at conventions? You would expect to feel the wrath of Disney pretty quickly, wouldn't you? Yet doujinshi, fan-made comics, are a huge part of Japanese culture, and many of them involve characters [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2011/11/akamatsu-japanese-copyright-changes-threaten-fan-comics/>