

Deadpool has gotten away with fighting and dancing his way through Comic-Con International and even thrusting his pelvis into strangers on the street, but when he boarded the morning train in Sydney, Australia, loaded for bear, he may have been courting trouble. The Herald Sun reports police stormed a peak-hour train Friday morning after receiving [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/07/alarmed-train-passengers-alert-police-to-armed-deadpool/>