

Jason Little launched his ambitious webcomic Borb earlier this year, telling the story of a homeless man through a series of four-panel comic strips — an homage to Great Depression-era newspaper strips like Little Orphan Annie and Gasoline Alley. In April, Uncivilized Books will release a 96-page collection of the strips. Courtesy of Uncivilized Books, [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2015/01/ambitious-borb-explores-the-slapstick-vagabond-archetype/>