

Last week I talked a little bit about that moment of discovery, when you become a fan of something, rather than just a casually-interested member of the general audience, and gave a few specific examples. This week, we do it again with a different list. * Jim Aparo: I was a Bat guy from the [...]

Read more: <http://goodcomics.comicbookresources.com/2012/03/23/another-friday-at-the-tipping-point/>