

I can't take it any more. Everywhere in the comics press there is endless speculation and crabbing and geeking out over what DC is doing. It's starting to feel like we're all unpaid interns working in DC's publicity department. So, enough. Here is something completely different. (Fair warning... it's also enormously nerdy.) However, people seemed [...]

Read more: <http://goodcomics.comicbookresources.com/2011/06/10/another-useless-friday-daydream/>