

In Age of Ultron #10, Brian Michael Bendis constructs a situation that justifies Hank Pym's ego-driven mistakes and turns them into something heroic that happen for the greater good. He doesn't have the option of not inventing Ultron. In a sense, Pym is put in a position where he knows that he has to invent [...]

Read more: <http://goodcomics.comicbookresources.com/2014/01/20/another-view-age-of-ultron-10-part-20/>