

What's undoubtedly my favorite item of the day arrives courtesy of writer and retailer Chris Butcher: With the 46-year-old Tokyo headquarters of Shogakukan set to be demolished in September, the manga publisher called on artists from across the country to send off the nine-story building in style. More than 20 creators gathered Aug. 9 for [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/08/artists-say-goodbye-to-shogakukan-building-with-graffiti-rally/>