

I attended a small, perpetually broke Catholic high school that couldn't afford to employ a guidance counselor. If we could have afforded one, it's highly unlikely it would've been Neil Gaiman, as nice as that might have been. At the time I was nearing graduation and about to go off to college to earn an [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/12/balloonless-gaimans-make-good-art-speech-in-book-form/>