

Longtime arch-enemies, Batman and The Joker faced off once more on Wednesday, only this time about a plan to require Times Square's costumed characters to be licensed. Wearing makeup and a red suit embellished with black bats, the Clown Prince of Crime told New York City Council's Consumer Affairs Committee that the bill amounts to [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/11/batman-and-joker-take-their-fight-to-new-york-city-council/>