

Much like Wayne Manor, the real selling point of Chris Weir's home in Middletown, Delaware, is what lies underground. When the lifelong Batman fan and his wife bought their suburban home in 2006, it was largely because it had enough basement space for Weir to construct his dream: his own Batcave. Two and a half [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/04/batman-fans-builds-his-own-150000-batcave-in-basement/>