

A unique partnership between a Beirut university and an construction magnate is designed to bring new attention to the long and interesting tradition of comics in the Middle East. According to Al-Fanar Media, the American University of Beirut and businessman Mu'taz Sawwaf are working to create a coordinated academic program focused on comics, along with [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/12/beirut-university-starts-initiative-devoted-to-arab-comics/>