

Retailer Bob Ficcarra, owner of the well-regarded Metro Entertainment in Santa Barbara, California, is in desperate need of help. In 2011, he suffered a minor stroke while working at the store, and discovered his health insurance wouldn't cover much of his medical expenses; that was just a year after Ficcarra racked up bills from surgery [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2012/12/bill-morrison-organizing-art-auctions-to-help-save-metro-entertainment/>