

We've seen superheroes face all sorts of obstacles, and one man is showing how comics can face down a real-world threat: cancer. Writer/artist Joe Martino has been creating comics since at least 1996, when he launched his independent series Shadowflame. But when he was diagnosed with renal cell carcinoma cancer, it became an uphill battle [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/06/cancer-survivor-draws-on-real-life-battle-for-superhero-comic/>