

When I see Beast Kingdom's articulated Egg Attack Spider-Man figure, I can't help but think of that Evian commercial from earlier this year that introduced Spider-Baby, the pint-sized mirror version of the wall-crawler. After all, the proportions are similar, even if the musculature differs. Plus, I'm pretty sure — pretty sure — that Spider-Baby's hands [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/12/chibi-style-spider-man-figure-is-oddly-adorable/>