

As promised, the online floodgates opened this morning to get tickets to Comic-Con International in San Diego. And while the past several years have often seen anger-inducing hoops to winning a chance at attending America's biggest pop culture event pop up, the show seems to be locked in to a workable — if still flooded [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2015/02/comic-con-international-encourages-fans-to-bethecheerio-during-maddening-online-registration/>