

Editorial cartoons | The public-relations consultant hired by the city of Murrieta, California, after residents protested the arrival of refugee children to be processed there, told cartoonist Lalo Alcaraz that referring to Murietta as "Hate City USA" was "actionable." "There IS a fine line between your constitutional right to draw cartoons and expressed (sic) your [...]"

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/07/comics-a-m-alcarazs-hate-city-cartoons-spark-legal-threat/>