

Conventions | Jason Knize makes a case for New York Comic Con potentially becoming “the Comic Con” next year, surpassing Comic-Con International as the completion of renovations on the Jacob Javits Center frees up an additional 90,000 square feet of space. However, he notes that space and attendance — NYCC’s 116,000 this year versus CCI’s [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2012/10/comics-a-m-could-nycc-become-the-comic-convention/>