

Conventions | A reported 86,500 people attended the third annual Denver Comic Con over the weekend, up from 61,000 in 2013. The event is undergoing some growing pains, however, with organizers quickly rescinding an announced cart-service fee for next year's convention following complaints from vendors. Even without that additional charge, some exhibitors remain unhappy about [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/06/comics-a-m-denver-comic-con-attendance-grows-to-86500/>