

Publishing | Dave Itzkoff profiles Karen Berger, who stepped down in March after 20 years as executive editor of DC Comics' Vertigo imprint (she still consults on a few projects). The story has a wistful tone, with Berger suggesting that DC is more interested in its company-owned characters and Co-Publisher Dan DiDio basically agreeing, but [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/05/comics-a-m-karen-berger-on-vertigo-shifting-comics-landscape/>