

Publishing | Heidi MacDonald reports that shareholders of Platinum Studios held a conference call Wednesday, with President Chris Beall sending a letter to founder Scott Rosenberg suspending him indefinitely as the company's chief executive officer. Rich Johnston posted the press release announcing the call, and some of the topics on the agenda were fairly jaw-dropping. [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/01/comics-a-m-platinum-shareholders-move-to-oust-rosenberg/>