

Controversy | Zainab Akhtar has a good roundup of the SodaStream controversy: A number of internationally known creators have protested SodaStream's sponsorship of the Angoulême International Comics Festival because the soft-drink manufacturer has a factory in the Israeli-occupied West Bank. "All of Israel's settlements in the Occupied West Bank are illegal under international law, and [...]"

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/02/comics-a-m-protest-of-sodastreams-angouleme-sponsorship-grows/>