

With Black History Month here, a piece by Joseph Hughes on the lack of black writers at Marvel and DC Comics has received justifiable attention. It's an issue that deserves as serious a consideration as the recent arguments for female creators, and it's something that can really be applied to every minority. Diversity strengthens comics: [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/02/comics-diversity-and-the-power-to-change/>