

Without even meaning to, I've noticed a pattern lately of enjoying my friend's "late" adoption of comic books, science fiction, and other so-called geeky things I thought were just mine. It's surprisingly rewarding to vicariously experience the things I love through people who are new to them. New readers' excitement about the books I have forgotten [...]

Read more: <http://goodcomics.comicbookresources.com/2014/12/17/committed-in-praise-of-newbies/>