

While I was at APE I missed the opening of a very interesting exhibition of art from indie comic book Henry and Glenn Forever and Ever at Los Angeles pop surrealism art gallery La Luz de Jesus. However, on Sunday I was able to attend the closing of the exhibition to take photos and speak to creator Tom Neely [...]

Read more: <http://goodcomics.comicbookresources.com/2014/11/05/committed-the-henry-glenn-exhibition/>