

One great thing about watching dorky, ancient reruns of The Addams Family on some forgotten TV channel at 3am is the commercials. (Aside: I'm sure it'll come as no surprise that Morticia Addams was one of my earliest female role models.) Very few of these cheapo late night commercials are for anything very good, mostly for gadgets [...]

Read more: <http://goodcomics.comicbookresources.com/2013/11/06/committed-the-library-charles-burns-the-future-of-digital-comic-lending/>