

Most businesses caught up in a social-media firestorm over a product might've issued an apology or hunkered down and quietly waited for the controversy to pass, but not Tankhead Custom Tees. The Murrieta, California-based company was thrust into the spotlight this week after photo taken at WonderCon Anaheim of one of its T-shirt designs — [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/04/company-defends-fangirls-t-shirt-claims-double-standards/>