

Writer and producer Denise Dorman, wife of artist Dave Dorman, kicked off far-ranging discussion with her recent post about the shifting convention scene, and how it's affected their income — specifically, her view that cosplayers have become to the “new focus” of the events, to the detriment of creators, publishers and vendors. It's certainly true [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/09/cosplayers-and-the-changing-convention-scene/>