

NPR television critic Linda Holmes has spent the past couple of weeks tweeting from the Television Critics Association press tour, which ended with a panel on the PBS documentary Superheroes: The Never-Ending Battle. Debuting Oct. 8, the three-part miniseries was directed by Michael Kantor, who was on the panel with comic book writers Todd McFarlane, [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/08/culturally-are-superhero-comics-following-rather-than-leading/>