

The 30 Characters Challenge, which asked comic creators to come up with a new character every day last month, ended earlier this week, and if you head over to the site right now, you can see round-up posts by some of the artists who participated of all the characters they came up with in what [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2010/12/culture-characters-copyright-and-creative-commons/>