

DC Comics has settled its trademark-infringement lawsuit against a Florida barbershop owner it accused of using its Superman logos without permission, Law360 reports. Details of the agreement weren't immediately available. The publisher filed the lawsuit in September against Reginal B. Jones, owner of Supermen Fades to Fros in Eatonville and Winter Park, claiming his shops [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/01/dc-comics-cuts-deal-with-florida-barbershops-over-trademark-dispute/>