

The software company Autodesk confirmed it has invested $10.4 million in deviantART, the 13-year-old online art community. Word of the investment first trickled out in late September, but documents filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission on Wednesday offer the first details. The figure was confirmed by GigaOm. Autodesk is now deviantART's largest investor. DeviantART [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/11/deviantart-secures-10-million-investment-from-autodesk/>