

The second issue of IDW's Judge Dredd doesn't just feature the continuation of Duane Swierczynski and Nelson Daniel's look at the early days of Mega-City One's toughest lawman, it also contains a treat for long-time fans of the character (and British comics in general): A back-up story illustrated by none other than Brendan McCarthy! Click through for a preview of what's happening in the main story, as well as an exclusive look at two pages from the Swierczynski/McCarthy strip.
