

Eleven-year-old Rowan Hansen attracted a lot of attention online last month for her letter asking DC Entertainment to “please do something” about the lack of comics, movies and toys featuring female superheroes. The publisher responded, tweeting, “We agree, we’re working hard to create more superhero fun for girls!.” However, DC didn’t leave it at that. [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2015/02/girl-who-asked-dc-for-more-super-heroines-becomes-one-herself/>