

When the New 52 reboot hit back in 2011, some characters clearly saw themselves a lot more changed than others. Titles like Batman and Green Lantern had relatively minor changes (although in both cases more changes came down the line as writers used the freedom provided to them to make more alterations) while books like [...]

Read more: <http://goodcomics.comicbookresources.com/2014/10/02/green-arrow-35-review/>