

In the immediate wake of the 2012 election, the emerging story is “demographics.” Specifically, the electorate of 2012 seems almost to have duplicated the coalition of 2008 that first elected President Obama. In fact, this year saw a slight increase in the number of Latino and Asian-American voters, and a corresponding decrease in the number [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2012/11/grumpy-old-fan-a-league-that-looks-like-america/>