

This past week (ish), DC Entertainment was so pervasive in the television upfronts, it almost made me forget the company still publishes comics. Joining Arrow on the 2014/2015 TV schedule will be adaptations of The Flash, iZombie and Constantine, as well as the Bat-prequel Gotham. (And hey, that was Caity “Black Canary” Lotz reprising her [...])

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/05/grumpy-old-fan-clothes-calls-or-the-perils-of-practicality/>