

For a while it felt as if DC Comics was just going to talk about all its July books without ever soliciting them. News of Grayson and Robin Rising and relaunches of Suicide Squad and Teen Titans trickled out of the DC offices before the dam finally burst on Tuesday afternoon. (That's why this week's [...])

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/04/grumpy-old-fan-dcs-july-looks-toward-the-horizon/>