

For those who have followed DC's promotion of Justice League 3000, this week's inaugural issue must arrive with something of an asterisk. Announced in June as the latest reunion of Justice League International's Keith Giffen (plot and breakdowns), J.M. DeMatteis (script) and Kevin Maguire (pencils), within two months the series became an unflattering example of creative-team [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/12/grumpy-old-fan-jl-3000-reply-hazy-ask-again-later/>