

“Ah, young love,” the poets like to sigh. But as intense and memorable as childhood (and early adulthood) romance can be, it can also be fraught with insecurity, awkwardness and trauma, a fact Canadian cartoonist Patrick McEown underlines in his latest graphic novel, Hair Shirt. The story centers on John, a vaguely insecure twentysomething who, [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/03/hair-shirt-is-a-haunting-comic-about-the-scars-of-memory/>