

As slain Charlie Hebdo editor Stéphane Charbonnier was laid to rest Friday, a cartoonist from the predecessor magazine Hara-Kiri denounced his determination to run the Prophet Muhammad cartoons despite violence and threats. The latest issue of the French satire magazine continues to sell briskly, as print runs climbed to 5 million, and the Charlie Hebdo [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2015/01/hara-kiri-founder-condemns-charlie-hebdo-cartoons/>