

After the January Image Expo, Image Comics received some flak because most of the creators on stage were white men. On Wednesday, Publisher Eric Stephenson's keynote address to the Image Expo held in conjunction with Comic-Con International included the following comments: "If we want to build a more diverse industry, though, if we want to [...]"

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/07/image-comics-pushes-the-needle-on-gender-diversity/>