

Among the bigger announcements to come out of Comic-Con International was that Marvel will resume publishing Star Wars comics after a nearly 30 years, 23 years of which the license called Dark Horse home. We've known it was happening for a while, of course, but this was the official unveiling of titles and creative teams. [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/07/in-a-galaxy-far-far-away-jeffrey-brown-continues-his-star-wars-saga/>