

Many of us have visited a friend's apartment, or toured a house on the market, only to discover that what at first seemed perfectly "normal" turned out to be a little strange. Maybe it was a bathroom painted blood red, or a guest room that revealed a little too much about a co-worker's nighttime activities. [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/11/in-sweden-theres-a-predator-the-med-house-and-its-for-sale/>