

The entire raison d'être of Joseph Cappellazzi's VHS: London seems based on a pun. A fellow with long hair is walking through a dark alley and meeting a guy in a ball cap. "Candy," says the sketchy character after accepting money for something called Spaceballs. The long-haired guy is after something a little more high [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/08/in-vhs-london-terrible-movies-are-against-the-law/>