

...I strongly believe you should start out with a great influence, learn from them, mimic them if you have to, its all healthy for the creative learning process. But at some point, once you start getting paid for your work and considered a professional in a certain field, you have to realize that it's sort [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/06/its-ok-to-mimic-artistic-influences-to-a-point/>