

Father Humberto Alvarez isn't a typical Catholic priest. Every Sunday, the 40-year-old dons a tunic emblazoned with images of Superman, Batman and Spider-Man, and, armed with a Super Soaker loaded with holy water, delivers a special Mass to the children of Saltillo, Mexico. It's an unconventional approach, but one that appears to work, drawing parishioners [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/02/man-of-faith-dons-man-of-tomorrow-for-childrens-mass/>